SUFFRAGETTE NIGHT

Crowd at Masonic Bazaar Hear Addresses by Miss Lord of Boston and Mrs. Burch of Washington.

Last evening was suffragette night at the Masonic bazaar and those in attendance had the pleasure of listening to two addresses on the subject. Hon Fred Birrell introduced Miss Eliza Hardy Lord, of Boston, who spoke first.

She said that it was a pleasure to speak to a Virginia audience as some of her ancestors belonged to the Jamestown colony in 1609 and yet after all those years of American ancestors behind her she was yet without the privilege accorded to the alien-born. She spoke of difficulties that had attended the advancement of women and said that the first women who received college educations were deemed unwomanly and unsexed, the first woman who went to college being ostracised as dangerous and disreputable.

Miss Lord was one of the first American women to graduate from a college fifty years ago, and her memory covers a period embracing the struggle for woman's progress as the same as those put-forth sixty years ago against their education. It was said then that education would degrade woman, separate families, and ruin the nation, and the world.

Miss Lord referred to the fact that Alexandria had been the scene of the activities of George Mason, the author of the Bill of Rights, which preceded the Declaration of Independence, and which was the foundation of universal male suffrage and of a constitutional form of government. Now it is fitting that the spirit of this document should be extended to all the citizens, irrespective of sex, as doubtless the fathers of our country would advocate, were they with us today. They were big and broad-minded enough to change with the times.

Miss Lord reviewed the accomplishments of women where given the ballot. They now vote in eleven states and in Alaska. Suffrage of some degree is accorded woman in nearly every nation of Europe. Suffrage will be granted the English women after the war. Recently eight thousand women met in Germany and asked for woman suffrage there. All over the world suffrage is gaining. In our own land it is difficult to be informed of its progress because information is not published in the average newspaper along that line. Were the people of this country properly informed on the suffrage question there would be little opposition to its extension. The Century and the American Magazines recently contained articles that would be illuminating to the women of Alexandria as to the benefits to themselves, their children, and the community that would result from woman suffrage.

The plan now favored is by a constitutional amendment, as being the most direct, the surest and the most dignified. When a man talks of submitting the question to the states, upon inquiry you will ascertain that he is not in favor of suffrage. Overtwenty of the 48 states of our Union cannot amend their constitutions.

Mrs. W. Thompson Burch of Washington also spoke for a few minutes, emphasizing the growing political power of women, who now, with their four million votes, control 81 electoral votes. It is proposed to use this power in the west to enfranchise the eastern women. A woman's political party has been organized as the most efficient method of defeating any party which opposes the enfranchise of women.

SUNDAY LAW REDIVIVUS

Police Commissioner at Meeting Last Night Asks Why Statute is Not Enforced in Alexandria

Fourth-months ago yesterday, when the ouster law became operative, nearly one hundred persons were cited to appear in the Police Court to show cause why they should not be fined for violating the Sunday law by conducting business on the first day of the week. Milk and ice men, street cleaners, bootblacks, newspaper men, carriers of papers, undertakers, proprietors of drug stores, ice ceam vendors, proprietors of cigar stores and soda fountains, drivers of "jitnies," express wagons, conveyances of all sorts and many others crowded into the court room to await the verdict.

The Sunday law was passed during the latter part of the eighteenth century, since which time it hus been amended, providing that only works of necessity will be allowed in the Old Dominion on the first day of the week.

The Police Court called the defendants to the bar in squads—i. e., bunching milk dealers, ice dealers, carriers of newspapers, etc., and dismissed the charges against platoons at a time. There was but one case where it was deemed advisable to impose a fine. The interested party took an appeal to the Corporation Court, but later abandoned it. The docket on that occasion was cleared in twenty-eight minutes, the court ruling that in the bulk of the cases the defendants were engaged in works of necessity.

It seems that this matter is destined to become an issue twice during the present year. At a meeting of the Board of Police Commissioners last night, Commissioner Knight asked why the Sunday closing law is not being enforced, and suggested a "resolution calling upon the police to perform their duty in this respect. Mayor Fisher informed the board that the police have instructions to enforce the Sunday closing law, and enumerated those things that are considered necessaries on the Sabbath.

The mayor stated he could see no reason for a resolution calling on the police to do their duty when the police are thoroughly informed on all the points of the law.

Police Commissioner John T. Sweeney was last night elected secretary to the police board succeeding J. Edward Shinn, Oscar F. Phillips, Mr. Shinn's successor on the board, attended his first meeting.

Commissioner Sweeney complained that automobiles exceed the speed limit in South Alfred street, and the attention of the chief was called to the fact.

Mayor Fisher told the board that an organization of colored persons had planned to give a ball on Hallowe-en night—the night that Alexandria will become "dry" along with the remainder of the State of Virginia, and he had informed them that they would have to provide two special officers for that occasion at their own expense.

Chief Goods reported that there had been 239 prisoners in the police court since August 15.

Tennesson's fried oysters, Wisemuller's bologna and Hammerdinger's horsecakes are no longer in evidence, but Baggett's puddings, a staple market house edible as far back as the Mexican war, after passing into a short eclipse, are again being offered for sale in the city market. A representative of the third generation of Baggetts (Charles) is now dispensing this inviting accompaniment of cold weather. COFFEE 10 CENTS A CUP

Egg Dishes in Washington Also Fall Under Ban of High Cost of Foodstuffs

Coffee per cup will cost 10 cents instead of 5 cents hereafter in at least one Pennsylvania avenue, Washington, lunch room, which is one of a nation-wide chain of lunch rooms. Egg sandwiches likewise in this same establishment will entail the payment of double their former price. They will sell for 10 cents stead of 5 cents. And at several other lunch counters and dairy lunch rooms the same kind of sandwiches have gone up in price from 5 to 8 cents.

Announcement that the high cost of foodstuffs had at last struck the coffee cup was made at the Avenue eating place several days ago. The management explained to all patrons who complained about the raise that coffee had advanced so much along with the advance in the price of cream and milk that it was absolutely necesary to demand a higher price for the beverage per cup.

A charity ball is announced for the evening of October 31st at the Elks' Home, to be given under the auspices of Mrs. James B. Martin.

A woman's prayer meeting will be held at the Ann Lee Memorial Home tomorrow, (Friday), afternoon at 3 o'clock. All women are cordially invited. All are asked to take Gypsy Smith's hymn book.

OUSTS SMOKING PARSON

Not Allowed at Episcopal Convention With Pipe in Mouth.

St. Louis Oct. 19.—A Socialist parson, who insisted in smoking a pipe in the corridors of Moolah Temple, was placed under the official ban of the Episcopalian convention Tuesday and was ousted from the temple.

George W. Simmons, chairman of the committee on arrangements, notified the preacher, Rev. R. L. Byron-Curtis, of Newark, N. J., that he must not re-enter the temple.

Rev. Bryon-Curtis had an exhibition of Socialist literature in a booth in the corridor.

Simmons said he saw Rev. Bryon-Curtis smoking last Thursday and again last Saturday warning him each time. When he met the preacher Tuesday again puffing the pipe, he told the Socialist he must stay out of the building. Women who passed in the corridors to and from a tea room were annoyed, Simmons said.

Simmons permitted the exhibit of Socialist literature to remain and placed nother person in charge.

Drink up Engine's Water

Galveston, Tex., Oct. 19—The circus train was stalled by an empty water tank of the engine. The engineer and fireman were vociferously mingling mutual accusations with profanity.

Then they saw a long, snaky object wriggle over the rear of the tender and dart down into the empty tank. The object proved to be an elephant's trunk. Following this very tangible clue, they discovered that three elephanst, who were occupying the car in the rear of the tender, had lifted off the cover of the tank and utilized the entire contents in elephantine shower-baths.

As a punishment for this infraction of railroad etiquette the elephants were compelled by a Hindu mahout named O'Reilly, to push the locomotive three miles to the nearest source of water supply.

NEGRO ADMITS CHARGE

Bennie Jones, Arrested in Alexandria Monday, Says He Stole Jewelry in Richmond

Police Justice Crutchfield of Richmond yesterday held Bennie S. Jones, negro chauffeur, for the grand jury on the charge of stealing $1,840 worth of jewelry from the home of Colonel James R. Branch, 3 west Franklin street. Jones was sent on after Detective Sergeant Wiltshire, who brought him back from Washington, said that the negro admitted taking the jewelry. Jones made no statement himself during the brief arraignment. Jones had been arrested Monday, by Officer William Campbell in a pawn shop in Alexandria while he was endeavoring to obtain a loan on the stolen jewelry. It was at first supposed he was wanted in Washington, and Jones was subsequently turned over to Detective Horn of that city. It was, however, soon known that the negro had stolen the rings, pins, watch, etc., in Richmond.

Before he was brought before Justice Crutchfield he told Patrolman Jennings through the bars of the court dock that he committed the theft Sunday afternoon, when he entered Mrs. Branch's room and removed the jewels from the drawer, of her dresser, At the time, he said, Mrs. Branch was asleep in another room in the house. He had been employed there for only a few weeks, as butler and chauffeur. Sunday night about 7:30 o'clock he was shot at by Patrolman Jennings when he threatened the policeman with a pistol.

Early Monday morning Jones took a northbound train for Alexandria. Several hours after his arrival in this city he was apprehended. Jones insisted that he had never been in serious trouble before. Though he claimed to be only 19 years old, he looks to be at least 25. He came from Georgia shortly before getting the position in the Branch home, in Richmond. All the Branch jewelry was recovered.

Eloquent Address Delivered at Meeting Held Last Night.

An interesting and instructive address was delivered last evening at St. Mary's Hall, by Mrs. Genevieve H. Walsh, Supreme Regent of the National Order, Daughters of Isabella, under whose auspices the meeting was called.

A large and enthusiastic audience gave evidence of their appreciation, of the instructive talk. Mrs. Walsh is a most fluent and convincing talker and is most practical in her suggestions. She told of the wonderful growth of the organization which has representation in 36 States of the Union, 300 Courts, eight State Courts, a National headquarters in the city of Utica, N. Y., and a membership of 27,000 women.

Mrs. Walsh told of the splendid esteem in which Court Kavanaugh No. 54 of Alexandria, Va., was held by their national officers, of the good work they were doing and encouraged them to greater effort for Catholic Womanhood and Catholic charities in time to come.

Rev. Louis Smet, Rector of St. Mary's Catholic Church was the next speaker and he paid deserved compliments to the honored visitor and urged the Catholic ladies of the parish to join such a worthy organization. Rev. Joseph Kelly of St. Joseph's Colored Church also responded in like manner.

Quite a number or well-known Knights of Columbus honored the meeting by their presence.

SIXTY-DAYS' SENTENCE

Check Flasher Not Wanted in Massachusetts and is Sentenced in Alexandria

The case of William Carroll, alias William Davis, arrested on the 9th instant by Chief Goods and Sergeant Wilkinson for obtaining money on a worthless check and uttering two others on which he attempted to obtain goods and money, came up in Police Court this morning. The accused was arraigned at the time he was arrested, but the case was continued for ten days, it being supposed Carroll was wanted elsewhere. The chief communicated with the Brockton, Mass., and Boston authorities, and the answers from those places was to the effect that the man was not wanted and it was hoped he had shook the dust of the bay state from his feet forever.

At the trial this morning Charles Wells testified that Carroll had obtained five dollars from him on a check drawn upon a bank in Harper's Ferry. The check had been returned with the statement "no funds."

Carroll when asked if he had anything to say replied that he had been in hard luck, was drunk when he uttered the checks, that he had found his wife living with another man, that he was a shoemaker, and would refund the five dollars he had received from Wells if given an opportunity to return to work, was bent upon "making good" by reforming his life, etc. His confession was published in the Gazette ten days ago.

Wells, who had recovered his five dollars he received from him, the note having been found in Carroll's pocket, said he had no desire to prosecute him. Justice Caton, however, said it was a case upon which action by the court was necessary. He sentenced him to serve sixty days in jail.

MAY LOSE UNIFORMS

Governor's Twenty Appointees Cannot Imitate Uncle Sam's Fighting Men.

Another mobilization faces Virginians.

Twenty doughty warriors—colonels all on the personal staff of Governor Henry Carter Stuart, must soon assemble to discuss a weightier problem than the capture of the elusive Villa. They must decide upon a suitable garb in keeping with their rank and dignity, notice having been received that, under the new Federal defense act, they are prohibited from wearing uniforms or any insignia of rank similar to or in any way imitating the uniforms and insignia of rank worn by officers of the regular army, unless the wearer is in some way connected with the armed forces of the United States.

Naturally consternation will reign in the ranks of those who have invested heavily in the habiliments with which colonels of the staff were wont to dazzle the eyes of their less fortunate brethren upon occasions when they have been called upon to accompany the Governor in an official capacity.

The order concerning the uniforms was sent by the War Department yesterday to Adjutant-General W. W. Sale, but has not yet been conveyed to those it will affect. There is some question as to whether the new Federal law will conflict with that of the State upon the question. The staff of the Governor is authorized by State law, the members being commissioned with the rank of colonel of cavalry. They, however, have no connection with the military establishment of the State, the positions being merely honorary.

THE SUNDAY LAW

Like the appearance of the seventeen-year-locusts, agitations for the enforcement of the Sunday laws of states and cities are in evidence periodically. Last June the authorities of Virginia were called upon to handle this vexatious matter. Nearly one hundred persons were summoned to appear in the police court of the city of Alexandria to answer the charge of conducting business on Sunday. The cases were disposed of by steam-roller procedures, since which time nothing had been heard of the ouster law nor violations of the Sunday laws, until last Monday when a man from the land of Homer, was arraigned at the instance of a neighbor who charged him with violating the law by conducting business on the previous Sunday.

During the past third of a century attempts have been made to enforce the drasti ccity law against work of any class on Sunday. When appeals have been taken to the Corporation Court the action of the Police Court has generally been set aside, and within a short time normal conditions were resumed.

It seems we are to have this issue twice during the year 1916, as one of the Police Commissioners at the meeting of the board last night called attention to grocerymen conducting business on the first day of the week. The commissioner wanted to introduce a measure requesting the members of the police force to enforce the law.

The Gazette during the past thirty-odd years has published enough articles on this subject to form a good sized book, and we have no intention of recapitulating what it has said so often, hence, there is but one suggestion to make at this time, although we stated the same, substantially, four months ago. Orthodox Jews, members of the Seventh Day Adventist Church and others who have been fined in different states in the union for working on Sunday, and who have appealed their cases to the higher courts, have invariably won, the judgment of the lower tribunals having been set aside.

Many of the grocery stores of Alexandria at present are conducted by Israelites. Should they be arrested and plead that they observe the seventh instead of the first day of the week, as one did last June, what can be done about it? Should the acused be fined and he carry his case to a higher court, the judgment of the Police Court, would undoubtedly be set aside, as has been the case in nearly every state of the union. The Police Court will have to rule on the question—What is a work of necessity? And until a final ruling has been made by the higher courts the question will undoubtedly continue to come up from time to time.

WANTS LASTING PEACE.

To find Professor Hugo Munsterberg advocating from the platform, the abandonment of Belgium by the Germans, after the war, will be in the nature of a surprise to many who have regarded the Harvard professor as leaning too strongly to German ideals to take issue with them in any particular. In an address recently on "Reconstruction After the War," the speaker thought it was important for the nations to remember that he state of peace, after the war, should not contain the germs of future wars. If Germany were to settle in Belgium, for example, or if England were to attempt to throttle Germany commercially we should have the beginning of the next war. "In the establishment of peace, care should be taken that no cause for jealousy or vengeance remains," observed the distinguished psychologist.

The Richmond Journal in commenting upon the utterances of the professor says the latter doubtless had in mind the blunder committed by Germany after the war with France in 1870, when the French provinces of Alsace and Lorraine weredemanded, in addition to the heavy cash in-

...marck, the astute, fore-... bone of contention the ... the alien territory was ... prove, but his advice was ... Great Britain profiting by ... error treated the Boers ... leniency at the conclu-... the war in South Africa, and ... satisfactory results. Who ... that if Alsace and Lorraine ... been segregated and trans-... with an absence of grievances, ... in France for the last forty ... such implacable hatred of ... Germans as is now apparent ... the French would be found spurring that nation on to the wreaking of vengeance on its despoiler. What is wanted now is the establishment of a peace that will be lasting. Not until Germany and England are brought together in good will can such a peace be established, declares the professor.

NEUTRAL RIGHTS

Greece, for whose liberty Byron fought, is now under the martial heel of the unsympathetic and unpoetic British. Germany's principle of military necessity is accepted and adopted by the Allies.

At the beginning of the present war great indignation was expressed in England at the violation of Belgian neutrality by Germany. The illies are now doing what they condemned in the Kaiser.

Whatever popular sentiment may have been heretofore in Greece, it is clear that it is not pro-Ally now. If King Constantine had an army of any size left, perhaps armed resistance might be offered, and the Grecian sovereign, like the Belgian, might be battling against univited guests. Possibilities of this kind have been minimized by the demobilization of the larger part of the Greek army and by the seizure of the Greek fleet, and Grecian feelings are likely to be more hurt than Grecian bodies. In any event, German ruthlessness in Belgium would hardly have been duplicated by the Allies on this classic soil.

As a cotemporary remarks, the allies have duplicated the principle of disregarding neutral rights in a national emergency, and have abandoned, to some extent, the high moral ground which they occupied at the beginning of the war. An insult often rankles in the mind as long as a positive injury, and this "military necessity" may come to bear bitter fruit hereafter. King Constantine seemed a short time ago a mere figurehead and Venizelos the real king; now the former becomes an idol and martyr, and the ex-premier a traitor instead of a patriot.

Editor Gazette:

The evangelistic campaign under the leadership of Rev. Gypsy Smith, Jr., closed after four weeks duration. The campaign was the result of the laymen's movement, supported by the Protestant Churches in the City, making one of the most formidable combinations that has ever been behind a religious movement in this city. It was an alliance of the land and naval forces, red cross contingents and marine corps of the militant host, and from every conceivable standpoint was a grand success. A large tent pitched on upper King Street was crowded night after night to hear the Rev. Gypsy Smith, and we might ask ourselves the question, what does it prove, this eagerness and interest manifested on the part of the people to hear this evangelist? Does it prove a vital interest in popular contemporaneous religion? Is it because men's ears have become dulled by "Shop talk" of the pulpit? Have they become weary of the worn platitude and professions of piety and assumed mannerisms or is it because Gypsy Smith, like Jesus, spoke in the colloquial tongue of the common people in proclaiming the gospel, and the common people heard him gladly?

We certainly covet this man's ability to make people listen. The word of the Lord that comes to him is not "Comfort ye, comfort ye" but "arouse ye, arouse ye" and repent. His aim and work is to attract the attention of the heedless to the claims of the gospel; to call sinners to repentance, and he does not hesitate to call sin by its proper name, and excoriates hypocrisy. He meets life on the level, and proves that the gospel message is for no particular class; the millionaire and "hobo" alike, must repent and accept Jesus Christ as their personal Savious. It has been said that the circus is the most democratic of gatherings, but Gypsy Smith's evangelistic meetings are more democratic than a circus as he appeals to the great mass of people. He leads men and women to Christ by the gospel message into new lives of holiness, happiness and helpfulness. He leads them by the "old blood stained way to the cross;" believe on the Lord Jesus Christ in your heart, confess him with your mouth and you will be saved. Speaking ... times with ... nsity of feeling and vigor, he seemed to be completely spent after an effort. Love is the great dynamic force that ... pands his heart and prompts him ... labor for the salvation of souls. His great heart seems to yearn for the unsaved, and he seemed at all times to consciously realize that it is by the grace of God that he is what he is, and it is to the honor of grace and not for the glory of a sinful worm. The truth which he believes and preaches with such untiring energy, zeal and an earnestness born of enthusiasm dwells richly in him, with a spiritual understanding that is marvelous.

Gypsy Smith succeeds in making things clear to his hearers for he preaches the gospel of Christ with mellifluous eloquence, consisting not in learned disquisitions, exegetical and homiletical explanations of a "higher criticism", with rhetorical touch and finish, but consists of the Holy Ghost power he possesses, for his utterances are spontaneously from a heart aflame with Divine love. And he succeeded in stirring our town as never before; his theology is "There is no other name given under heaven or among men whereby we may be saved except the name of Jesus Christ." He believes in a personal Savious, a personal salvation, and a personal devil; if there is no devil, he said: "Who has been doing his work in Alexandria all of these years." For he said that the "devil had been practicing his devices and arts for six thousand years, and had never taken a vacation, or had appendicitis, rheumatism or tonsilitis." From the interest manifested in these meetings the ... is no question in the minds of many of us that there is too much in the preaching of today from the pulpit the nice, the pretty and the dainty; too many sermons are simply given for literary merit and excellence of production. Grammar and rhetoric are all right in their place, but you cannot be saved by ... alone.

While Gypsy Smith is modern in his methods, his messages are unmistakably the "old time religion". There seems to be no twilight zone in his intellectual processes, and there are no mental reservations in his preaching. One thing he preaches with emphasis is that man is lost without Jesus Christ as his personal Saviour.

He is a man of strong character, and foolish adulation will not turn his head. He is a man systematical theological training for evangelical work, and possibly if he had been it would have denatured him. He is natural and graceful and easy as he is simple in his utterances; in other words, a natural man, and it is the natural man, that is the strong man. He has also learned the lesson of individuality, prizes it, preaches about and practices it. A unique character, a sui generis, who is doing a great work in the evangelistic field. He is a man close to nature and makes people laugh instead of cry; his sense of humor is evidently stronger than his sense of pathos. Tear and hysterics are suppathos. Tears and hysterics are suptrade of an evangelist, but not with Gypsy Smith, for he makes sin so preposterously hideous in its character that he makes a man ashamed of himself.

We notice among his favorite instruments or weapons, humor, satire, scorn; at times his peerless powers of ridicule were turned to the lonely oyster when used as the means of the money-making church supper.

In summing up the whole matter it can be expressed in three terse phrases Gypsy Smith's whole message is "Quit your meanness, confess your sins, accept Jeus Christ as your Saviour; get busy for him among men." He can truthfully claim for himself that he is an evangelist, and an evangelist only, for he certainly repudiates the Christian program that is merely palliative or ameliorative and that the church must stand for the "fundamentals of Christianity." He impressed them so deeply that our city has talked of little else for weeks; the aroma of the atmosphere of those four weeks still remain like the perfume of roses. As it is only when the mark is hit that the bell rings, so there is a strategic value in the rallying of the churches about one man has been fully demonstrated in Alexandria by our recent experience, as over 800 "hit the saw dust trail" and publicly confessed their Lord, possibly 90 per cent of whom will be conserved by the churches and will enter into church membership. He has created a religious sentiment in our city that will yield a rich harvest. Already plans have been made and movements launched in the way of cottage prayer meetings and union prayer meetings, to keep the fires of Divine love burning in the hearts of the people.

I hold no brief for the impeccability or invulnerability of Gypsy Smith, yet I am fully persuaded and know of a truth that he as been instrumental in creating more commotion and crystalizing more religious sentiment in our city than has ever been done by anyone in the memory of the oldest inhabitants, and we feel ourselves especially blessed by God in having the faithful services of this efficient Godly evangelist. He was without a doubt "The right man in the right place" with us for our hearts were filled with joy on the closing days of the meeting when they came forward by scores publicly confessing Christ. Our hearts and prayers go with him in his new fields of labor, and pray the Lord of the harvest will give him scores and hundreds of souls for his hire. "They that turn many to righteousness shine as the stars for ever and ever."

We love him for the enemies he has made as well as for the good he has done. It is now that the real work begins. It has been the experience of all great revival periods of endeavor like the present campaign of evangelism, that the people and the churches stop for a breathing spell, and the result is drifting, and drifting always saps the life of the church and weakens its effectiveness more than out-breaking sin.

100-MILE-AN-HOUR GALE

Several Persons Killed and Damage May Reach $1,000,000

New Orleans, La., Oct. 19—Pensacola, Fla., suffered the brunt of yesterday's hurricane, which swept in from the Gulf of Mexico, at the rate of 100 miles an hour, and although the town was cut off from communication with the outside world by wire last night, the wireless brought the news that one person had been killed in the city proper and two were reported killed on the outskirts. The damage will run between $500,000 and $1,000,000. Mobile, Ala., suffered the second heaviest, one being killed, four four boats wrecked, property damage of $50,000 done and street car traffic and wire service almost demoralized.

The storm swept in from the gulf between 4 and 11 a. m. yesterday. At 7 o'clock the wind had attained a velocity of 57 miles an hour at Mobile and steadily increased, all communication being lost at 8 o'clock.

Pensacola reported a velocity of 72 miles an hour at 8 a. m. and a few minutes later all wire communication was lost and had not been restored up to 10 o'clock last night.

Lena Shamburg, a negro woman was killed by a live wire in the streets of Mobile.

Pensacola, Fla., Oct. 19—Several vessels in the harbor here were sunk and numbers of small craft suffered damage, from the terrific tropical hurricane that swept through here yesterday, at one time reaching a velocity of 114 miles an hour. Property damage in Pensacola itself was confined chiefly to roofs being blown off and plate glass windows destroyed. Reports from the United States navy aeronautic station near here were to the effect that it escaped with comparatively little damage, the newly completed hangars having withstood the gale.

Mobile and other gulf points also reported a high wind, but little damage.

The hurricane apparently veered toward the northwest after sweeping inland.

ROB GERMANS OF SECRETS

Prisoners Put to Work at Their Trades in Way to Steal Methods.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 19—How some of Germany's closely-guarded trade secrets are being unwittingly disclosed by prisoners of war is told in official dispatches reaching here. In one instance German prisoners, all expert makers o fthermometers, have been put to work where their operations could be observed by skilled workmen, and, as a result, several methods of filling bulbs with mercury, hitherto a secret in Germany, were discovered.

DECISION OVERRULED.

Decision Affects Thousands of Militiamen in the United States.

Boston Oct. 19.—Federal Judge Bingham and Aldrich, with Judge Putnam dissenting, yesterday overruled the decision of Federal Judge Dodge, whereby Alexander M. Emerson, who declined to take the Federal oath, was released from military service on a writ of habeas corpus. The decision affects thousands of militamen all over the country.

The opinion as written by Judge Aldrich says that "the order of the District Court is vacated with directions that the petitioner be returned to the military company from which he was taken."

The overruling of Judge Dodge's decision gives the authorities power to take into military custody all members of the various State militia companies who have not taken the Federal oath.

The case of Emerson was regarded as a test case. Emerson was a member of Troop B, of the First Squadron Cavalry, M. V. M., at the time the troops were sent to the border, last June. He declined to take the Federal oah and contended that he was not subject to military orders any longer.

POLICE COURT

(Justice H. B. Caton, presiding).

The following cases were disposed of this morning.

William Carroll, charged with obtaining money upon a worthless check, was sent to jail for ninety days.

John Jackson, colored, charged with disorderly conduct was dismissed.

James Bowman, charged with a similar offense, forfeited his collateral by failing to appear.

Gallard Brown, charged with running an automobile upon the sidewalk forfeited $10 collateral by failing to appear.

Married.

Robert T. Lucas and Mattie A. Jones, both of Alexandria, were married Wednesday, Oct. 18, 1916, at 7:30 p. m., at the First Baptist parsonage by Rev. Eugene B. Jackson. They will be at home, 610 south Fairfax street, after Oct. 2[illegible] (Washington papers please copy).

PLACES BAN ON WOMEN

St. Louis Oct. 19.—Women were denied equal rights with men in two actions taken yesterday by the house of bishops of the Protestant Episcopal general convention in session here.

A proposal to permit women to sit as delegates in the general convention was rejected while a request from the Rt. Rev. Logan H. Roots, bishop of Hankow, to be allowed to admit women to membership in his advisory council was denied. The house suggested to the bishop of Hankow, it was stated, that he might create an auxiliary council of women.

The proposal to give women equal rights with men in the convention was sponsored by Robert H. Gardiner, of Gardiner, Me.

A similar resolution is now on the calendar of the house of deputies and it was pointed out yesterday's action in the upper house does not preclude its being discussed in the lower body. Since concurrence of the two houses is necessary in the event the house of deputies should approve the proposal it will go to the house of bishops for reconsideration.

On the Pole of Despair.

Chicago, Oct. 19—To brood undisturbed over domestic complications, Theodore York mounted the top of a telegraph pole at North La Salle and West Erie streets. He was found clinging to the pole by policeman

"I'm despondent," said York, sadly, at the Chicago police station. "I was married three days ago. I brought home my first week's salary Saturday. My wife paid $5 for a bottle of perfume and $6 for a pair of stockings. Then she left me, saying she could not possibly exist on my wages, $20. I wanted to be alone. I thought I could worry at the top of the pole without being wounded."

VIRGINIA NEWS

A farmer living on Cox's Creek fifteen miles from Lovingston, last week shot and killed a big black bear, weighing 200 pounds dispatching the animal with a revolver. The bear was attempting to slaughter one of the farmer's hogs when he was discovered, and the most powerful firearm the farmer could locate on short notice was the small pistol. Twenty-four shots were fired before the bear succumbed.

After discussing the matter for months, the Danville Academy of Medicine, to which practically every docor in Danville belongs, has had published a revised schedule of prices. Certain charges are stipulated for the different kinds of professional services, but wide latitude has been given in many instances. As an example, the price for major operation is between $50 and $100. Members of the academy who are called out to attend a patient between the hours of 9 p. m. and 7 a. m. are expected to charge $5 a visit.

Beginning shortly before nightfall, Norfolk at midnight last night was in the grip of a northeastern storm which was steadily increasing in velocity. The wind at 12:30 a. m. was thirty miles an hour in the city and forty miles an hour at Cape Henry. The outlook was for dangerous coast conditions by morning. The storm was accompanied by a driving, misty rain, making navigation hazardous. Scores of vessels were reported scurrying for Hampton Roads and Lynnhaven Bay, seeking shelter. Two fleets of menhaden steamers took refuge in the roads and thirteen are reported as anchoring in Lynnhaven Roads since the storm warnings were raised. All sailings were discontinued by shipping agents. Line steamers left on schedules, however.

In an automobile accident late yesterday afternoon on the Great Bridge Road, a few miles south of Norfolk. Mrs. J. O. Williams was instantly killed and J. O. Williams, her husband, probably fatally injured. The car skidded into a ditch at the roadside and turned turtle. Mr. Williams, who is a well-known merchant, is internally injured and has a crushed leg.

R. H. Haun, 26 years old, died yesterday at Bristol, as the result of having an arm and leg crushed off when the engine on which he served was sideswiped by a runaway car. Engineer W. C. Cole, was seriously injured. The locomotive, after being deserted, ran wild for two miles, with the train dispatcher sending out warnings to trains to get on side tracks, and finally stopped of its own accord.

Miss Ella Saulsberry, a young girl, was assaulted by a negro boy late Tuesday night as she was returning home, at Lynchburg. The negro choked the girl and took several boxes of candy from her. The girl's cries brought citizens and the police, but the negro escaped.

NEWS OF THE DAY

War has broken out among two of the leading tribes of Arabia, as the result of the recent rebellion of hostile Arabs against the Turks. Reports received in Constantinople from Oshman, Damask, state that the powerful West Arabian shiek, Abdul Asib Fanson Emin Seid, has declared war to the former Emir Hussein, on the ground that the latter rebelled against the Sultan.

After a night and day of rioting King Constantine is reported in dispatches from Athens to have issued an official warning to the people that demonstrations against the French marines and sailors must end.

Italians have won a new success against the Austrians, carrying, by a swift and powerful blow, the last Teuton defense line between Cosmagnon and Roite in the Mount Pasubio sector.

Both north and south of the Somme the French troops have made fresh gains. The village of Sailly-Saillisel is now entirely in their hands and the Germans have been driven from the hills northwest and northeast. Over a front of a mile south of the river between La Maisonnette and Biaches, the German first line defenses have been driven back by the French. East of Thiepval gains by the British north of Gueudecourt and in the region of Butte de Warlencourt, are recorded by the London war office.

Atchison, Topeka and Sante Fe mail express train No. 5, southbound, was held up and robbed by a band of robbers near Bliss, Okla., last night. An express messenger named Norman was shot and killed by the bandits. After looting the train the robbers escaped in an autemobile. It is said that the safe in the express car was blown to atoms.

Spectators in Judge Foell's courtroom in Chicago were thrown into a panic yesterday when a black-gowned, heavily-veiled woman fired three shots at Jacob Klaus, seriously wounding him. The woman was Mrs. Katherine Marek, whose husband was suing her for divorce, naming Klaus. The woman was quickly overpowered by court attendants.

Two distinct earthquake shocks, that in some instances shook frame buildings and knocked chimneys down, were felt throughout Georgia and eastern Alabama and Tennessee shortly after 4 o'clock yesterday. From all points damage was reported as negligible except around Birmingham and Montgomery, where it appeared to consist of damage to chimneys. Many persons, however, ran from their homes in terror.

Mrs. Childress was alone in the sitting-room when she prepared to start a fire in the heater. When she poured a small quantity of oil in a can and then upturned the contents in the stove, a small explosion immediately occurred, flames shooting up and igniting her clothing. The left side of her face and side were burned and her hair badly signed. But for the fact that she was wearing glasses, Mrs. Childress would have been burned about the eyes.

To All Democrats:

The undersigned were appointed by the National Democratic Committee as Auxiliary Finance Committee, for the City of Alexandria, and have received an urgent request that we call upon all Democrats to help the cause.

Alexandria Democrats have thus far done nothing.

We, therefore, call upon every democrat in Alexandria and surrounding country to send us such contribution as he or she can, whether large or small.

Send something, if only a few cents, and show your interest. We will thankfully receive any aid whether $100 or 10 cents.

Remember that this is a big country and that there are many close and doubtful states; and the National Committee must have large means to carry on a successful fight.

The Republicans have large interests that contribute to their overflowing treasury.

The Democrats must depend upon voluntary offerings, and mainly upon a great number of small ones, to make up their necessitous treasury. Send your contribution to any member of the Committee, and, whether it be large or small ,please send at once.

It is greatly needed.

This is a call to women as well as men.

Respectfully,
J. K. M. Norton,
Gardner L. Boothe,
Charles Bendheim,
